

Report on: MORALITY LESSONS FROM RAMAYANA

Resource Person: Dr. Prashant Kumar

Participation: Faculty and Students of J.S. University, Shikohabad

Date: 22 Sept, 2022

Event Summary: Dr. Prashant Kumar from Department of Management, ICCMRT, LUCKNOW presented on the topic “Morality Lessons from Ramayana”. He says that All humans have the ability to evolve in a positive direction, according to humanistic therapy, unless their environment forces them to stray from the proper path. When the moral high ground is accidentally used for political, social, religious, or ethnic gain, it is demoralizing. Surprisingly, twisted morality is sometimes used to justify institutional tyranny. If the goal behind morality is tainted, the entire purpose of morality is undermined. Even with the best intentions, the consequences can be disastrous. The speaker explained that before deciding what is morally right or wrong, both aim and impact must be thoroughly addressed.
